TUPELO HONEY

Tupelo Honey came together in 2019, built around a simple idea: put a room full of road-tested, world-class musicians on stage and let them do right by one of the most influential songwriters of the last 60 years. Van Morrison didn't just write songs — he helped invent an entire sound, Blue Eyed Soul, and that sound is the whole reason the band exists. This isn't a note-for-note tribute act; it's a full night moving through the era Van helped shape, pairing his own catalog with the artists who point straight back to him — Bruce Springsteen, Elton John, Bonnie Raitt, Robert Palmer, Billy Joel, Joe Cocker, and U2, among others.

The musicians behind Tupelo Honey bring a collective résumé that includes stages shared with Aretha Franklin, Whitney Houston, Alicia Keys, The Rolling Stones, The Police, and Paul McCartney, and that experience shows in every set — tight, soulful, and built to move a room. The band has sold out 500-plus capacity theaters and clubs on first appearances, closed shows to standing ovations, and built repeat relationships with venues and promoters across the country. Configurable from five to thirteen pieces, Tupelo Honey performs for performing arts centers, casinos, festivals, cruise lines, and parks & recreation departments throughout the Northeast and beyond.
